Em7 Am7

Young people are stupid

Em7

All they want

Em7

The only, the only thing they want is

Em7

Money for the trams

Em7

Am7

They will punish those who love them most

Em7

And know best what is good for them

Em7

And they come running back

Em7

When they are beyond salvation

Em7

Broken, unrecognisable

Am7

Em7

Stinking of fear

Em7

Stinking

Em7

Money for the trams

Am7 Em7 (x4)

Em7

What is the motive and meaning

Em7

Of a teenage heroin addict

Em7

Nothing

Am7

But every so often one of them dies

Em7

And somebody gets upset

Em7

And its father will walk down a rainy street in his cheap flared suit

Em7

Am7

Polyester flapping in the wind

Em7

And he clutches a plastic briefcase full of papers

Em7

To prove to the judges that the drug dealers killed
his son

Am7

Em7

Look at him walk - he doesn't doubt anything

Em7

Am7

Through the fog and up the hill

Am7

Past the army barracks

Em7

Down again near the American cemetery

Am7

If you want happiness maybe you should have

Em7

looked in the dustbin

Em7

Perhaps somebody's been there already

Am7 Em7

Shut up

Em7

Pay your money and take your seat

Em7 Am7

But the show doesn't begin

Em7

Nothing happens

Em7

You feel somehow, cheated

Em7

So you start to stamp your foot

Em7

You start screaming

Am7

You start to yodel

Em7

You start to say "Take your clothes off"

Em7

"Take your stinking stinking stinking clothes off!"

Em7

Am7

"Stinking stinking stinking stinking stinking

Em7

stinking stinking stinking stinking!"

Em7

The garden comes with the house

Em7

Am7

The neighbours in the trailer camp destroyed it

Am7

Em7

But you still pay for it

Em7

The neighbours are very respectable towards each other

Em7

But they have a blind spot

Am7

They grew up during the war

Am7

Em7

When there was fellow feeling between nations

Em7

So they are different

Am7 Em7

So they don't respond to a call which is

Em7

"Take your stinking clothes off!"

Em7

"Take your stinking clothes off!"
